

38.04.05 Business Informatics

Digital Technologies for Financial Economy

Department: Financial Monitoring (75)

Program objective

to train specialists with fundamental knowledge in economics, management, law and information technology.

Key professional activities

- design, implementation, operation and maintenance of information systems;
- IT outsourcing management;
- domain analysis, project creation, implementation and management;
- operating and improving corporate architecture.

Program graduates are in great professional demand in IT-related spheres and hold leading positions as business analysts, IT project managers, system integrators, etc.